

CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIME

www.merrimysteries.com

Party games for 8 to 100 guests

CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIMESCENE CRIME

presents . . .

“The Hunt” Host Guide

For meet and mingle versions

by Laurel Long and Stephanie Chambers

Copyright © 2009 Acture Pty Ltd. Merri Mysteries is a subsidiary of Acture Pty Ltd. “Merri Mysteries” was formerly known as “Tailor Made Mysteries”. For further details on Merri Mysteries or to order another mystery dinner party kit, see www.merrimysteries.com. See Copyright details later in this guide for further details on the copyright requirements for this kit.

Host's guide

It is easy to prepare and run a mystery party. We normally recommend that as host you should also take a role and participate along with everyone else, but for this particular kit we don't recommend this because you will know too much as you will have hidden the items to be searched for.

Preparing for the party

- 1 Open the kit. The name of the kit shows the recommended minimum number of guests and the maximum number of guests for which this kit caters.
- 2 Decide when you will be having the party, where and who will play each role. You should read the description of each character and try to select a role for each guest. Or you may like to give your guests a choice of the roles not yet taken and let them decide for themselves.
- 3 We recommend that you tell your guests to: "Please dress up as your character. Over dressing and going to extremes is highly recommended." We generally find that the more people put into the event, the more fun it is.
- 4 Decide how you want to do the invitations. You can print out the Word or Adobe Acrobat versions and handwrite the details, or you can type in your party details before you print it out. There are four invitations per page. You can print them in color or black and white or you may like to print them on colored paper. For each guest, cut out and attach their character description or copy and paste it into their invitation before you print it.
- 5 Or you could paste the jpg version into an email and add your party details and send this to each guest.
- 6 Move to the page which shows the Overview. You need to send each guest a copy of this page along with their invitation. Print as many copies of this pages as you need using Print Current page and specify the number of copies required.
- 7 If you are emailing the invitations, copy and paste the text from the Overview page into your email message. You can select the text (page by page) from the Adobe Acrobat file.
- 8 When you are printing the kit, print extra copies of the Special Items D, E, F, G, H so that each guest can be handed a copy of these pages.
- 9 Cut each page in two using a guillotine/paper trimmer or scissors. Don't read the clues beforehand as it will spoil your enjoyment of the party, and you may spoil everyone else's enjoyment by letting on that you know everything!
- 10 The "Answers" pages are at the end with a warning beforehand not to read the next section. Fold these unread, put them in an envelope and open it at the appropriate stage of your party to find out the answers. Don't let anyone read over your shoulder during the party. Make sure you have a dictionary or two available for your participants to access.
- 11 Print a name tag for each guest. You can print them in color or black and white or you may like to print them on thicker or colored paper. Cut these up and have some small safety pins handy.
- 12 Create a clue page for each guest. Divide up the meet and mingle questions and answers and staple them to their clue page. You may like to print them an extra name tag each that you staple on to the front of their clue page. All the meet and mingle questions and answers should be given out. If there are far too many for the number of guests you are having, then you can ignore some of the sillier ones.
- 13 If you think some of your guests may not turn up you could cut up the meet and mingle questions and answers and have them in a bowl so people can help themselves. You may like to save some questions and answers to hand out in the middle of the party.
- 14 Decorate the room just before the party (see Décor).
- 15 Prepare or arrange for food for the event (see Menu suggestions).
- 16 Prepare prizes for the party (see Preparing prizes). As a minimum you need to prepare the objects for them to find as part of the scavenger hunt.

Décor

These are suggestions you might like to follow to make your place look as if it's Sasha Thomas' house which has been empty for some time:

- Drape sheets over the furniture.
- Put some fake cobwebs made out of cotton string in the corners.
- Put books about inventions, biology and physics and other science subjects around the place.
- Have some nerf guns (foam balls) around as these were involved in a game Sasha invented.
- Have a photo of a girl in a circus and a photo of a man surfing to represent photos of his/her children. Put them in frames if you can.
- Have a hand drawn picture of an octopus displayed (Sasha created this at the nursing home).
- Have a cardigan sweater (or male sweater in the all female version) draped on a comfy chair and give it a vanilla smell by putting some vanilla essence on it just before the guests arrive. If you don't want to stain it, do this on the inside of the sweater or on handkerchiefs you put inside the sleeves. This belong to someone Sasha dated.
- Have some typical Chicago souvenirs such as Sox's hats or Cub's hats etc. And/or have some Texas souvenirs that Sasha might have kept since childhood.
- Make your place look cluttered as Sasha was a real collector. For example, have piles of newspapers and magazines.
- If you can find it, have a toy giraffe or a picture of a giraffe as this was Sasha's favorite animal and inspiration for his/her invention.
- Have a cake stand and all the things you need to decorate cakes as Sasha liked to decorate cakes and he/she was trying to invent a machine to ice cakes. Display cake recipe books.
- Have a work bench with plastics and screws and hammers etc as if another invention was being developed.

- Have the books Sasha liked to read in a pile (ie "The Where's Waldo?" collection and mystery writers such as Mary Higgins Clark and Stephen King).

Important note: Carefully hide the Will (see Special Item C) inside a Stephen King book. If you can't borrow one from friends, then borrow one from the library or make a fake cover and put it over one of your other books.

Menu suggestions

If you like you can include a few snacks and foods that Sasha Thomas liked to eat such as squid balls and black rice cake, fried rabbit liver and scrambled eggs (or just egg whites colored with tumeric if you want to serve them like the nursing home served them). You could also include some nursing home favorites like soups, cabbage dishes and colored jellos. If you want you could serve dessert first as this is what Sasha liked to eat first.

Or you could serve Pirate food if you are having mainly pirates as your participants. For example, you could serve stew, bone, soup and sweet bread.

Or you could serve Fairy food if you are having mainly fairies as your participants. For example, you could serve angel food cake (with strawberries, whipped cream, and ice cream) and candy such as jelly belly and rock candy. Or make fairy bread by putting sprinkles on fresh buttered bread (these are called "Hundreds and Thousands" in some countries).

Or serve both Pirate and Fairy food if you are having both present.

Or search for American recipes on the Internet (eg search for "American recipes" on www.google.com).

You may like to serve cocktail party food such as:

- cheese and crackers
- vol au vents filled with corn or asparagus and cheese
- spring rolls
- filo pastry parcels with spinach and fetta cheese and pine nuts

- spicy chicken wings
- mini pizzas
- hot skewered food
- mini sweet pumpkin pies.

If you would prefer, you can serve a sit down dinner or have the food in a buffet / smorgasbord arrangement.

If you are having mainly children as your guests, you may like to serve food that they like such as pizza.

If you are holding the party as a sit down dinner, allow people to mingle a bit before and after dinner so they can chat with more people and find out more.

Preparing prizes

You may like to have some prizes available to give to:

- the first people who find the person with the question or answer matching theirs
- the people who get the most correct answers
- the person with the best costume.

If you do have prizes, you should let people know they exist just after you read out “The Rules”.

Tip: Don’t assume that only one person will work out the answers. It is best to have a prize you can divide up (eg a box of chocolates or a bag or box of Turkish Delights). If no one guesses correctly, divide the prize up amongst everyone.

You should hide the following pages (cut them out) at the locations mentioned (see the Questions in Special Item A: Sasha Thomas’ Letter), but these are just tokens which the people who find them can redeem from you for the prizes you decide to give them:

1. Hide this cash icon inside the toilet roll in the main toilet your guests will be using and when someone gives it to you exchange it and give them cash (eg if the exchange rate is 0.00001 then you give them $10, if it is 0.000001 give them $1):

2. Make something that resembles a gold bar (eg wrap some candy in gold paper) and hide it under the kitchen sink.
3. Hide this picture of a painting in a closet (eg the coat closet if you have one, otherwise any closet). If you want once they find this and give this to you, you can give them a prize in exchange (eg a small picture to keep). Or you can just give the overall winners prizes.

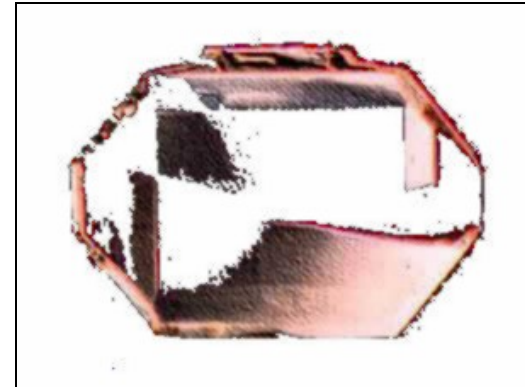

4. Hide this building title deed by sticking it under the dining table. If you want once they find this and give this to you, you can give them a prize in exchange (eg a toy house to keep). Or you can just give the overall winners prizes.

This Indenture

Bestows ownership of the Manhatten Building, 431 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, in the State of Illinois in the United States of America on the bearer of this building title deed.

5. Hide a pink gem (eg rose quartz which is cheap to buy in rock shops) in the refrigerator freezer amongst the ice cubes or hide this picture of a pink diamond there. If you want once they find this and give this to you, you can give them a prize in exchange (eg something pink). Or you can just give the overall winners prizes.

6. Hide this picture of a violin by sticking it under the couch (or under a comfy chair):

7. Hide a dime in the oven if it is being used or if it isn't being used you could hide this picture of a valuable coin there instead.

If you have a color printer and some T-shirt transfers, you may like to download and print out some of our special T-shirt logos (ie “I Had The Best Costume”). See <http://www.merrimysteries.com/tmm/prizes.htm> for details. These are free to download.

Running the party

We suggest that you run the party as follows:

- 1 Have everyone’s clue pages on a table near the entrance so people can collect their page and their name tag as they arrive. Or hand them to them as they arrive.
- 2 When everyone has arrived, read The Rules to everyone.
- 3 Have each participant introduce themselves to the group by saying their character’s name and a few words about themselves from their description (only do this if you have less than 17 people, otherwise skip this).

- 4 Start by reading out Sasha’s letter (see Special Item: A). During the first part, ask the guests to meet and mingle and find out information. Make sure everyone tells the people they meet about their clues and that everyone participates. You may like to encourage people who are shy by asking them a question or two. Once people find out things they think may be important, they can also pass that on to the people they meet.
- 6 Serve your First Course (if you are serving various courses, otherwise, just make the food available and let people know they can eat it during the party).
- 7 Once the Will has been found have the lawyer (or someone else) read it out to everyone.
- 8 Read the rest of Sasha’s letter, give the guests copies of the Special Items D, E, F, G, H pages as they get up to the relevant question and have the guests work through the clues in it. Tell them if they guess incorrectly. Make a dictionary or two available.
- 9 Whenever necessary take a break between clues and serve some more food and/or drinks.
- 10 Serve hot drinks and after dinner mints (if applicable).
- 11 Present the prize (if you are providing this) for the person who has the best (or most creative) costume.

Copyright details

Copyright © 2009 Acture Pty Ltd. Merri Mysteries is a subsidiary of Acture Pty Ltd. “Merri Mysteries” was formerly known as “Tailor Made Mysteries”. For further details on Merri Mysteries or to order another mystery dinner party kit, see www.merrimysteries.com.

Acture agrees to grant a license to you to download (or receive the kit files via email) and print out and use or perform our kits, according to the terms and conditions described on <http://www.merrimysteries.com/tmm/terms.htm>. You can only make one printout of the clue pages and lamination of the clue pages is not permitted.

If you wish to use our kits on a commercial basis (eg as a venue for mystery party events or as an event organizer or an actor or theater group), you must pay double the price of the kit by ticking the Commercial use checkbox on our order form. This gives you the right to use the kit more than once.

The Rules

These are to be read out by the host to the whole group at the beginning of the party:

Welcome to “The Hunt”! A worker in the laundry that washes the linen from a nursing home found a letter amongst the dirty sheets. The letter described where the person had hidden each part of their vast fortune.

The fortune included cash, gold bars, a famous original artwork, the title deed to a building, a precious jewel, a very old violin, and a very valuable coin.

Some investigations have been made at the nursing home and, from the handwriting it appears that the letter was left in the sheets of the recently deceased Sasha Thomas.

We are now in the home of Sasha Thomas. It has been locked up for some time. Your job is to un-riddle the clues and to find the treasures.

During the first part of the party when you are mingling, you must tell as many people as you can what you know. If you find out interesting new information, you can also pass that on to the people you meet. Don't panic if you don't get to talk to everyone. You will hear and see enough to help you work out the answers. You may want to jot down some notes on your clue page.

There is no need to hurry through this and you can adlib a little if you want. You do not have to read each clue exactly as it is written – embellish it if you want. This is your chance to be dramatic! (see next page)

Please do not search the house for any clues until you have been given permission to do so. If you have been told to search for an item of treasure, please do not search for it until you have told me, your host, where you think it is located and I have confirmed that you are thinking of looking in the right place.

Optional: There is also a prize for the person with the best costume. There is a special prize for the first two people with matching questions and answers that find each other during the mingling part of the party.